Dear State Employee,

The Money Conference is a FREE conference presented by Treasurer Timothy P. Cahill in conjunction with the YWCA.

The Conference will focus on money management, life after college, retirement, and investment strategies for all ages, racial, ethnic and economic backgrounds, and levels of financial knowledge.

What: The Money Conferences for Women
When: Saturday - March 25, 2006
Where: Western New England College
Why: Key Note Speaker: Dee Lee, a nationally recognized Certified Financial Planner.
Author of the books Let's Talk Money, and The Complete Idiot's Guide to 401(k) Plans

- * Are you living paycheck to paycheck and can't even think about saving for retirement?
- * Do you think it's not worth bothering to save small amounts of money?
- * Do you know how to make your dream a reality?
- * Owning a house? Starting a business?
- * Are your spending habits out of control putting you into debt?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, the FREE Money Conference for Women is for you!
Please join us in learning how to plan, recover and look forward to your future with financial health.

Did you know?

- *More children will live through their parents bankruptcy than their parents divorce.
- *Uneducated consumers are targeted by lenders with higher rates for consumer debt and mortgages.
- *Many retailers make more money from interest charges and late fees than they make from selling merchandise!

If you cannot attend the March 25, 2006 Springfield Conference, but would like to receive a reminder to attend the September Conference in the Greater Boston Area - be sure to join the mailing list! @ <http://www.themoneyconference.com/home.htm>
